Dear

Thanks so much for your excellent talk to my Defense Intelligence School Seminar on 26 October. It gave us a valuable perspective on how the DCI (you guys) sees the complicated resource management process, and your presentation of how the role of the DCI in this process has evolved was a true tour-de-force. I'll be using it in my own lectures as they come up. But the best part was the explanation of that triple helix called program and budget cycle - I've tried to lay it out like that but never as concisely and clearly as you did. A really expert piece of work which I'm sure my people will benefit greatly from as they go on into Defense Intelligence.

Thanks again and I'll be calling on you next spring.
